Budget Principles

1. Resource allocation is driven by the mission and strategic vision of the University. Budget decisions should reflect the priorities of the University and its colleges, departments, and other budgeting units.

2. Resource allocation will promote excellence in the University's three core missions: discovery, creation and application of knowledge; dissemination of knowledge by teaching, publication, artistic presentation and technology transfer; and community engagement.

3. The principles and processes guiding budget allocations will be transparent, documented, and accessible to faculty, staff, students, and administrators. Transparency helps to ensure shared governance, as outlined in University policies and procedures.

4. The budget promotes responsible, prudent and sustainable stewardship of resources. The University will avoid excessive financial commitments and overspending while encouraging development of current and new revenue streams.

5. The budget process aligns responsibility, decision-making authority and control over resources. Aligning resources where knowledge is housed and decisions are made and implemented promotes rational decision-making in the pursuit of university goals and objectives.

6. The University of Utah provides a stable annual budget process that is flexible enough to adapt to changing conditions. The manner in which resources are allocated should be relatively constant and known before a course of action is taken.

7. The budget process supports budget model diversity. Colleges, departments, and other budgeting units perform different functions and have different revenue streams and costs.

Budget Principles and Process Working Group

Cathy Anderson
Alberta Comer
Christine Botosan
Cindy Berg
David Browdy
Ed Buendia
Frank Brown
Henry White (Chair)

Howard Horwitz
Larry Mauck
Raymond Tymas-Jones
Richard B. Brown
Mark Bergstrom
Robin Marcus
Ruth Watkins (ex officio)

Adopted March 2014